PSALM OF LIFE.

[MODERN RENDITION.]

Tell me not with truthful meaning,
That you are a democrat;
For the soul is hellward leaning
Which will cope with vice like that.

Man is learned! Man is learning!
And his views are not 'mean tricks'
Banker stealing workman's earning
Was not meant by politics.

Work is hard and wages waning.
Honesty will hardly pay;
Put a stop to Wallstreet's gaining
Make old Grover rue his day.

Let us then be persevering
With our ideas up to date;
Ever braving, never fearing,
Immortalize the populist fate.

FROM MISSOURI.

We are just in receipt of a letter from our good friend W. H. Kimzy of Platte county Missouri who renews for THE DEMOCRAT and adds:

"I can't do without THE DEMOCRAT. It teaches the democracy that was taught when I was a boy Sixty years ago. The democrat of to day is hardly a shadow of the democrat of sixty years ago.

"It is quite laughable to hear the democrats of to-day howl 'free silver.' Three years ago you could hardly hear one chirp free silver. The only thing you could hear was the abuse of the "three party" men for their silver policy. (Take slang and whisky out of the democratic party and they are left.) After the pops brought out the sentiments of the people in favor of silver, the democrats and republicans commenced howling free silver. O! consistency where art thy jewel.

THE ROAD LAW.

The writer wants to lay down a proposition and hopes some one who feels like it will take issue with him.

Here it is. I affirm that the system now in operation of working the public highway, in short, the road law in Texas is a failure, a fraud and class legislation of the very worst kind.

I hope some of the friends of the present road law will show why the law is just, and equal. I attempt to affirm that it is the very opposite and should be repelled, and a just and wholsome road law enacted.

I hope THE DEMOCRAT will allow sufficient space (very little is required) for the subject to be discussed.

If no one takes issue with me I will consider them all of the same opinion as the writer on the road law.

THE present spookie appearance of the pettifogging orator who, in 1892, pleaded with the farmers to JUST give the democratic party "a chance" and get one dollar per bushel for wheat, ten cents for cotton; with free silver at 16 to 1 and honest Grover as president you'll wallow in prosperity! CHAIRMAN Dudley and several members of the state democratic executive committee were interviewed this week, by the Dallas News correspondent, as to the cause of the convening of the committee at this season of the year, and, almost without an exception they said it was for the purpose of keeping the party from stampeding. In other words, "Save the party if the country goes to the d—l."

HON. Walter Q. Gresham secretary of state died at Washington city at 1.15 a. m. Tuesday morning.

GEORGE Washington Andrews was shot and killed on the streets of Waco by George Dallas Griffice. The former had married the latters daughter and afterwards left her, hence bad blood existed between them.

FRIDAY'S Dallas News published Tarrant county's list of 22 populist clubs with their officers. Tarrant county populists are moving out and are gaining rapidly every day as their continued organization proves.

To say a man is a democrat or republican tells nothing of his political ideas, save that he is opposed to the great measures taken by the populists to elevate labor.

ACCORDING to yesterday's Dallas News the populist state executive committee was in harmonious session at Ft. Worth enthusiastically promoting the ends of the populist party's clear cut platform demands, while at the same time Chairman Dudley's democratic committee was in chaotic session in Dallas cravenly juggling and gyrating in ridiculous confusion and utter despair.

LATHAM, Alexander & Co., bankers and cotton commission merchants of Wall street, New York, sends to this office an estimate of the cotton acreage of the United states for 1895. The report shows a decrease from 1894 of 2,751,000 acres, or 13½ per cent. The planting of crop was 12 days later than last year. They say that the crop is in a less favorable condition than last year. From the report we clip the following:

"Accompanying the acreage reports we received a large number of letters assigning the causes that influenced the reduction in acreage, and we briefly summarize them as follows: The low prices of cotton last year rendered cotton planting, generally, unprofitable and greatly discouraged planters; cotton commission merchants have been disposed to curtail advances—many declining any new business; in the interior many small merchants, who usually gave accommodations to planters, have failed in business, and the disposition of southern planters to increase the acreage of corn and other food products has necessarily lessened the quantity of land that would have been planted in cotton under more favorable conditions."

THE NEWS IS WILLING.

Dallas wants the populist national convention held within her gates and will gladly make room for the democrat, republican and prohibition parties also if they will just say it is a go.—Dallas News.

POPULIST DEMAND ADOPTED.

Switzerland was inveigled into the gold standard, and the reaction against money corners produced a popular sentiment that has culminated in the passage of an act to establish a government bank.—McKinney Enquirer.

EUGENE V DEBS GOES TO JAIL.

The United States supreme court on Monday, May 27, denied the application of Eugene V. Debs for a writ of habeas corpus. He will be remanded to jail. In consequence of the decision Debs delivers himself of the following:

"I only know of the decision as it appears in the evening papers and, assuming that it is correctly reported, it appears the case was not decided upon its merits, but that it was found that the circuit court having final jurisdiction, its act was not reversible by the supreme court, and therefore the writ was denied. I expected a favorable decision, but am not disappointed. After the decision by that tribunal upon the income tax bill I am not at all surprised to see the decision of the lower court affirmed in our case. Both decisions are absolutely in the interest of the corporations, syndicates and trusts, which dominate every department of the federal government, including the supreme court.

"Jefferson's policy is being literally fulfilled. The 'sapers and miners' as he denominates them, are at work underminding the federal republic. States' rights are practically eliminated while the right of a citizen to a trial by a jury of his peers, vouched for by the constitution, is broken down. Every federal judge now constitutes a czar. The decision of the supreme court gives them autocracy sway. They can now issue any kind of an injunction restraining any man from doing anything and then deprive him of his liberty after simply going through a farce of a hearing before the same judge issuing the injunction. Railroad corporations may now reduce wages and enforce and kind of conditions upon their employes without fear of their resignation. If employes see fit to quit they can be put in jail for exercising this prerogative. This infamous outrage has now the judicial sanction of the supreme court of the United States. I shall abide by the decision with perfect composure, confidently believing that it will hasten the day of public ownership, not only of the railroads, but of all other public utilities. I view it as the death knell of the wage system. In the long run this decision will prove a blessing to the country."

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Elina Jane, wife of W. D. Ingram, died at her residence in McKinney, Monday evening May 27, of pneumonia fever, at the age of 38 years. Mrs Ingram was the daughter of A. J. Lewis, an old citizen of Collin county. She was born on the old home stead 9 miles southeast of McKinney June 8, 1857. In 1872 she was united in marriage to W. D. Ingram with whom she lived most happily until the time of her death; nine children, six of whom survive her, were the fruits of this marriage. The deceased was a member of the Christian church and died peacefully in the triumph of her faith, her chief concern at death was for the spiritual welfare of her children.

Her remains were lain to rest Tuesday evening beside those of her mother's and other loved ones in the Forest Grove (old Fitzhugh) burrying ground. Eld. Jno. M. McKinney conducted the funeral exercises at the grave.

A CREDITABLE RECORD.

The report of the Commissioner of Insurance of the State of New York for the year of 1894, has just been submitted to the legislature of that state for approval.

To many readers of this paper who are policy-holders in The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York this report is valuable and interesting.

The magnificent financial statement made by this sterling and grand old company for 1894 is still fresh in the minds of our readers, and followed as it now is by such a favorable report from the Commissioner of Insurance it is doubly interesting.

It must also be reassuring and a source of pride to the many policy-holders of this company, in Texas, to see its splendid showing and also be a valuable point to consider for those contemplating insuring their lives.

The following we quote from the New York Times of May 13th:

"In the last report Superintendent Pierce says: 'Since my last annual report the amount of work accomplished in the matter of examination has been very great. One of the largest life insurance companies of the state, namely, The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, has been subjected by the department to a detailed examination of its assets and liabilities which has occupied a large part of the expert force at its disposal for more than a year.

"'The full statement of the results of this examination will be published in detail soon. Meanwhile it is only necessary for me to say in this place that the examination has satisfied me as to the condition and management of the company, and the publication of the results in complete form will certainly be gratifying to policy-holders and to the public.'

"The above needs no commending upon. The facts above stated together with its splendid statement, leave no room for further comment as regards to the high standing and superiority of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York."

ALLIANCE ENCAMPMENT.

Having been appointed financial manager of the annual alliance encampment to be held one mile south of Randolph, beginning on the 23rd day of July and closing the 27th, both days included, I will receive bids up to and including the 13th day of July, when all bids received will be considered. Bids should first be made for exclusive right to all sales on grounds, as I prefer to sell entire grounds to one man or company of men, able and capable of managing all the stand rights. This kind of arrangement would simplify matters and produce the best result for all concerned. Independent bids may be made for exclusive right to sell any one article as lemonade, cigars, etc, bids for single stands, naming articles bidder desires to sell, bids for exclusive right will first be opened and if any one is found satisfactory it will be received and no bids for single stands be opened; if no exclusive bid is satisfactory, then bids for single stands or exclusive bids for sale of one article, will be accepted—highest bidder getting first choice of stands, etc.

All bids will be kept secret and will be opened on July 13th. No information as to probable bids will be given any one except the statement that the exclusive right to all sales last year sold for $505.50. All bidders must be prepared to sign a written contract in case his bid is accepted, and one half of the bid must be paid cash in advance at time of acceptance. In case any unforeseen accident should prevent the holding of the encampment this deposit of one half of bid will be returned.

All matter connected herewith will be attended to in a business-like manner, and I only desire to hear from parties who mean business and who are able and willing to comply with above terms. Address all communications to

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

NO DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Kentucky, says: "In '89 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that I was despaired of. I had no sleep for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker.

When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh, being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Address

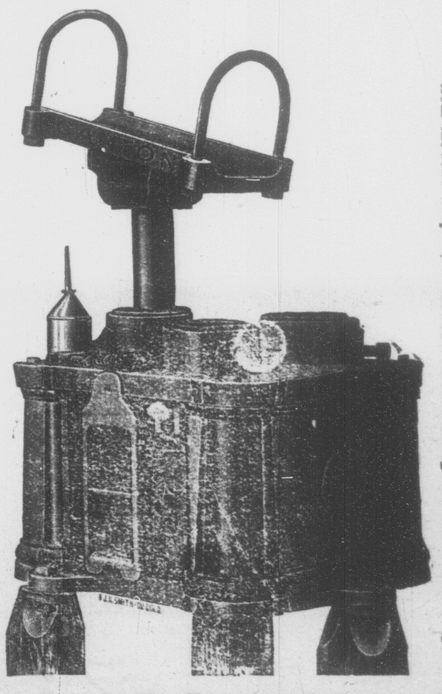
NEW CANTON CANE MILL.



The Canton Mill is far ahead of all its competitors in every essential feature. Its capacity, durability and economical qualities make it the foremost mill on the market. The shafts are made of the best of steel and are heavier than those heretofore made of wrought iron, thus securing absolute safety in this vital part of the mill. The castings are made of the highest grade of charcoal pig iron and no inferior metal or workmanship enters into their construction. The main shaft is also made long, enabling the mill to be set near the ground making it run steady. All Cog wheels in these mills are cast separate from the rolls and can be renewed without affecting the Rolls or other expansive parts of the mill. They are driven by clutches near the point of resistance and as no keys or bolts are used to vex the operator are easily removed or replaced. We also have the celebrated Cook's Evaporators, made of both copper and galvanized iron. These goods are guaranteed to be first class in every respect and we carry a fine line of them in stock. Call and see them and get our prices and terms. We will make it to your interest to trade with us. We also carry a full line Buggies, Wagons, Carriages, Carts, Harness, Barbed Wire, Binders Twine, Cultivators, Cotton Planters and everything in the Implement line.

HICKMAN ITEMS.

May 28, '95.

Editor Democrat:

The crops will soon be laid by and then comes picnic time for which our good ladies have plenty of chickens ready and waiting.

Mrs. T. A. Baily has been spending the last week in Celeste with her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Young, who has a very sick child.

Dr. A. W. Hooper, of Culleoka, who is disabled from professional duties on account of a very sore arm which is a sequence of his having been recently vaccinated, is now at home with his parents at this place, where he will remain until he recovers.

A merry crowd left our ranks last Saturday for Grassy lake, well equipped with seines and nets, where they tried their luck fishing. They report success.

Mr. McQuirter, of Merit, was in town (excuse that town please) this morning trying to rent a house. I think he succeeded and will move in our midst. There, now! I knew Hickman would build up, although we are nearly as destitute of side walks as "Hazel Eyes" said Calamity City was.

Our alliance met last Saturday night.

Bro. Norwood preached Sunday night to a large congregation.

Our Sunday school and singing is a success. BYSTANDER.

CALAMITY CITY.

Calamity City, May 27.

Editor Democrat.

All is peace and quietude in our little village since the rain aud wind storm which visited us Saturday evening. The rain was appreciated very much and will do a great deal of good.

Miss Emma Curtis and Mr. Elmer Stanford are on the sick list this week.

The singing at Illinois Sunday was all O. K. The attendance was not very good in the morning on account of muddy roads, but Sister Grove class came up in the evening and all enjoyed a pleasant time.

We are glad to have visitors from other communities and hope they will come again.

The singing at Mr. W. C. Grays Sunday night was largely attended and proved to be quite a pleasant evening for all.

Uncle Johnnie Smith has returned home from Houston where he attended the reunion. He reports a pleasant trip.

Grandma Watson is visiting relatives near Culleoka this week.

Mr. Stone Cypher and family of Merit, visited M. W. Lyons and family Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Hooper, of Culleoka, was in our city Sunday evening.

There is strong talk of holding an election in our school district for the purpose of prohibiting the demon of drink to locate in our midst. We hope that every voter will carefully read

SATAN'S SOLILOQUY.

"If it wasn't for wine," quoth the devil one night
"The traffic in souls would be woefully light;
If it wasn't for wine, for whiskey and beer,
How lonely I'd be in my kingdom down here.

When I planted the vine and coaxed it to grow,
When I taught the rich, purple vintage to flow
I knew that mankind in their folly would drink
Till they stumbled and fell over perdition's brink

The preachers may scatter the gospel abroad
As sowers cast seeds o'er the plow-furrowed sod;
But what do I fear from the zealous divine,
So long as men quaff the ruby red wine

So long as I see the gay glitter and glare
Of the barroom's bright light, I never despair;
For so long as men drink, so long as they spree,
I know there'll be always a harvest for me.

If it wasn't for wine, for whiskey and gin,
These parents of vice in their nurseries of sin,
I think, like the Arab, I'd fold up my tent,
And would hang up a sign that hell was for rent.

CONTRACTION

A man's wealth does not depend upon the number of dollars it represents but upon the products of labor it will buy. The man who a few years ago possessed a million dollars and has kept it is now nearly twice as wealthy as he was then because money will buy nearly twice as much labor or its products. Could the moneyed classes succeed in reducing the price of labor to one-fifth of what it now is it would increase their wealth five fold because they could then buy, with the same money, five times as much labor or its products. Laboring men should know better than to vote for a man to whose interest it is to keep wages low.

There are good and wise laws proposed that would have a tendency to keep wages up and every laboring man should put his shoulder to the wheel and turn them into effect. This will never be accomplished by a combined force of the rich and laboring classes, but will have to be done by laboring men in opposition to the rich. A LABORER.

HISTORY OF PARTIES.

During the American revolution the people were divided into two parties, "whig" and "tory." The whigs believed in the right of revolution and the Declaration of Independence was their platform of political principles. The tories held to the old doctrine of the divine right of kings to rule the people. The whigs triumphed. A republic was organized, and a government of the people, by the people and for the people was instituted.

The tories disbanded, as a party, but the whigs maintained their party organization for some years. A new party arose which took the name of democratic. The tories, as a class, went into the new party, and many of the whigs also joined the democracy.

The whigs were radical. They believed in the doctrine of "inalienable rights," for all, and in a liberal construction of the "Constitution." The federalists were conservative. They did not believe in the doctrine of equal rights; hence they regarded the new government as an elective monarchy, rather than a republic.

Washington was elected president without opposition. His administration, while non-partisan, was in fact a federalist administration. Alexander Hamilton, the head of the federal party, was a member of Washington's cabinet, and the controlling spirit in it. He was the secretary of the treasury, and under his influence the old monarchical monetary system was adopted by this republic. In 1779, a bill was adopted by congress, and signed by President Washington, establishing a national bank, modeled after the Bank of England. Thomas Jefferson led the opposition to this anti-rebublican institution.

He said: "This bank corporation will come to control the government in its own selfish interest, and menace, if it does not destroy, the liberties of the people."

Under the leadership of Jefferson the anti-bank men organized the original republican party and, in 1800, this party elected Jefferson president, over John Adams, federalist.

Jefferson was re-elected in 1804 and in 1808 James Madison was elected as a republican.

The bank was chartered for 20 years; hence its charter expired in 1811, and in 1816 Jefferson's prediction that the bank would come to control the government was fulfilled, as it secured a new charter from a republican administration.

There was now no vital difference between the two parties, federal and republican; hence the campaigns were conducted on personal rather than political grounds, till 1828. The bank would soon need a new charter. The anti-bank republicans took the more popular party name, democrat, and elected Andrew Jackson president. In 1831 congress passed the bill granting the bank a third charter for 20 years, but President Jackson vetoed it. He declared that under our constitution congress has no power to authorize a bank corporation to issue money, but that the currency of the country should consist of gold and silver coins and treasury notes.

The federal party on being defeated in 1828, reorganized under the name of whig party and, in 1840, it elected General Harrison president and John Tyler vice-president. Harrison died within a month of his inauguration and Tyler became president. Congress passed a bill to charter a national bank, but President Tyler vetoed it as Jackson had ten years before.

In 1844 Polk was elected president, as a democrat, the issue being the annexation of Texas. Texas was a slave-holding country and her annexation to the United States was a pro-slavery measure, and in becoming the champion of that measure the democratic party became the pro-slavery party.

In 1854, at the demand of the slave oligarchy, the democratic party, then in power, repealed the Missouri Compromise act, thus opening the territories of Kansas and Nebraska to slavery. In 1856 the free-soil element of the two parties organized the present republican party, and nominated John C. Fremont for president. The republican party was born in the city of Philadelphia, on the 17th of June, 1856. There were three candidates for president that year: Buchanan, democrat; Fillmore, American and Fremont, republican. The republican candidate received no votes in the south, yet in the electoral college he was defeated by only 59 votes, including the eight given to Fillmore. Yet people will say that the people's party has no show for electing its candidate even in 1896, though it was organized three years ago last May, and though it has more than half the voters in the country pledged to its support and a complete party organization in every state in the union. If precedent is worth anything the people's party stands in a most hopeful relation to the other parties in the race for president at the next election.

This review of the history of parties is necessary to an understanding of the attitude of the three parties now asking the suffrage of the people.

It is seen that the democratic party was the legitimate child of the old republican party: that in its beginnings it was anti-bank, and under Jackson it was re-christened and took anew the oath of allegiance to the interests of the people as against the arrogance and selfishness of bankers.

It is seen that it fell into the snares of the slave oligarchy, thus ceasing to be democratic.

We learn from this history that the republican party was born of the spirit of freedom and was the champion of liberty in its early years.

Following the history of these two great parties we see them uniting together, in 1863, against the people and in the interest of bankers, foisting upon the country a national bank system with an aggegate capital almost fifty times as great as that of the first United States bank and with power far greater than was possessed by that first bank.

We see these old parties burdening the country with a fictitious war debt in the interests of these banks, and continuing that policy of unjust special legislation until the present day. Now we see them both, with an impudence unparalleled, an effrontery perfectly astounding, asking the people for their suffrage on platforms not democratic, not republican but monopolistic and plutocratic.

So much alike are these two old parties that no man could discover any material difference between the administration of Cleveland and that of Arthur, or between the administration of Harrison and that of Cleveland.

The people's party was formed by the industrial classes who produce the wealth of the country and its platform is in line with the principles of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and the doctrines of Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln.

The people's party stands for the abolition of the national bank system, the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver and the issue of treasury notes sufficient, with the gold and silver coin, to do the business of the country upon a liberal basis.

It demands that the great lines of transportation shall be owned and operated by the government in the interest of the people and not by private corporations for their sole benefit.

It demands that the United States postoffice shall have a complete telegraph system and that the public lands of the country shall be held for actual settlers only, and not for private corporations and non-resident speculators.

The platform of the people's party is based upon the scientific principles of a sound political economy. It is in line with the doctrines of the American Economic association, comprising over seven hundred of the leading thinkers and scholars of the United States.—T. A. Bland.

SMALLEST BABY IN DALLAS.

A freak died yesterday. It was a baby. Its age was five weeks. The baby was scarcely ten inches long and weighed hardly a pound and a half. Its color was a peculiar blue. It was born at the hospital. Dr. Armstrong, the city physician, said yesterday that the baby died from want of strength to digest. He said that it was perfectly formed in every respect.—Dallas News.

KELLY'S NEW SCHEME.

Oakland, Cal., May 20.—"Gen." C. E. Kelley, who led a detachment of Coxey's army to the national capital last year, has left for Washington, accompanied by his wife and two children, in a prairie schooner, on what he considers an important mission.

He believes a monster petition will be as likely to obtain recognition from congress as a crowd of hungry men camped on the steps of the capitol and the purpose of his trip is to obtain signers to his prayer for national help in times of general depression.

Gen. Kelly will deliver lectures at all places through which he will pass and after explaining the purpose of his mission will submit the memorial to congress.

PEOPLE'S PARTY PLATFORM

The following was adopted in in the National Convention at Omaha July 4 1892:

1. We demand a national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only a full legal tender for all debts public and private, and that without the use of banking corporations a just, equitable, and efficient means of distribution direct to the people, at a tax not exceeding 2 per cent per annum be provided, as set forth in the sub-treasury of the Farmers alliance, or some better system; also by payments in discharge of its obligations for public improvements.

2. We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1

3. We demand that the amount of the circulating medium be increased to not less than $50 per capita.

4. We demand a graduated income tax.

5. We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all state and national revenue shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government, economically and honestly administered.

6. We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the safe deposit of the people and to facilitate exchange.

7. Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity, the government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

8. The telegraph and telephone, like the postoffice system, being a necessity for the transportation of news, should be owned and operated by the government in the interest of the people.

9. The land, including all the natural sources of wealth, is the heritage of the people, and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of lands should be prohibited. All lands now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs, all lands now owned by aliens, should be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

IMPORTANCE OF THE ALLIANCE.

If for no other reason, the farmers alliance should be maintained to serve as a support for the reform party when it assumes control of the affairs of government.

There will be an organized party, with unlimited resources, ready to tear down a reform administration, and destroy the fruits of a reform victory. Every means possible of corruption will be used to discredit a reform administration with the people. The press, the stump, and the pulpit, in many cases, will be enlisted in the work of obstructing a party antagonistic to the money power.

The populist, or people's party, is reasonably certain to sweep the country. If history repeats itself, the people's party will obtain the control of national affairs. It will need a well organized army at its back to support and sustain it in the hour of assuming responsibilites. If the alliance would fill that mission it must be further strengthened, and its arms extended to encompass the whole country. If for no other reason, this is ample inducement for the people everywhere to sustain the alliance and push the organization of sub-alliances.

If the reform party can have the support of the alliance, well-organized in every state in the union, the attacks of plutocracy can be withstood, and the charges of the mercenary horde of the money power can be repulsed. It is, therefore, the duty of reformers everywhere to see to it that the alliance is kept up, and that the organization of sub-alliances is pushed until the alliance is not only strong in every state in the union, but that a thorough organization of the alliance people is felt, and their power respected in every county in every state.

The alliance is the father of political reform, and it will be absolutely essential to make the movement a success and a certainty from its first advent to power. Then comes the critical moment, when the alliance can be of supreme importance, and without it the reform administration will really be in jeopardy.—Southern Mercury.

WHEN DOCTORS AND HOSPITALS FAILED.

DALLAS, TEX., April 4, 1895.—This is to certify that for the last eight or nine years I have been sorely afflicted with a most severe bowel and rectal trouble, which also produced a complicated condition of the uterus and kidneys. I was four months in the Dallas hospital and was treated three different times by at least a dozen different physicians and was operated on four times, but without no avail. I continued to grow worse until I had lost hope of recovery, but thank God a lady friend advised me to try Dr. McDowell's Family Medicines. I had used only one bottle of the La Creole Blood Purifier and one box of Rabbit Brain Ointment when I found I was improving fast. I have used six bottles of the La Creole and about the same number of the salve and Eel Oil, and I can truthfully could not be paid enough money to be placed back in the same position I was in when I commenced the use of the medicine.
My husband was attacked with a severe case of Gripp and had a severe cold and fever. He was so bad that we thought he could not recover, but he concluded to try McDowell's Hot Drops and Eel Oil and in a few days was able to resume his work. MRS. HATTIE DAVIS, 317 Elm Street.
